

Dr. Sègnonna Horace ADJOLOHOUN is a human rights lawyer and constitutional law expert from Benin. He currently works as Principal Legal Officer at the African Court on Human and Peoples' Rights. Prior to joining the Court, he was Senior Legal Expert and Team Leader on a project aiming a clearing the backlog of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights and boosting referral of cases from the Commission to the Court (2013-2015). Before working at the Commission, he worked as Litigation and Research Project Coordinator at the Centre for Human Rights, University of Pretoria (2011-2012). Between 2008 and 2010, he contributed to various research, moot litigation projects; worked as human rights researcher or consultant with the African Union Department of Political Affairs, the United Nations Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, International Commission of Jurists, Global Rights, Benin National Human Rights Commission, African Union, and Constitutional Court of Benin. From 2002 to 2006, he worked as Program Officer with the Francophone Africa Supreme Courts Association on a judicial human rights protection program in organizing human rights training, exchanges visits, thematic conferences, and building a case law and legislative database for law professionals in West and Central Africa. He has a significant experience in human rights litigation namely before the ECOWAS Court of Justice, the African Court, and the African Commission.

He holds an LL.D. in public international law (human rights) and an LL.M. in Human Rights and Democratisation in Africa from the Centre for Human Rights at the Faculty of Law, University of Pretoria (South Africa). Prior to studying in South Africa, he obtained a BA in Public Administration and Law from the Benin National School of Administration and Judicial Training and a Licence in public law from USAM (Benin).

Has written and published books, chapters in books, articles, and commentaries on international criminal law in national systems, international law and domestic human rights litigation in Africa, African constitutionalism, constitutional and international human rights litigation, implementation of international human rights bodies' decisions.

He lectures on the CEU Summer Course on Constitution Building in Africa, and on various human rights training projects for lawyers, judges and civil society in Africa, among others with the Institute for Human Rights and Development in Africa, the Initiative for Strategic Litigation in Africa, and the African Court Coalition.