

Freedom from Fear in a diverse society: Hungary

Program

10:00 - 10:15 Opening remarks: John Shattuck, CEU President and Rector

10:15 - 10:45 Keynote: Alexandria Innes (University of East Anglia) Immigration towards Europe: Myths and Crises

10:45 – 11:00 Coffee break

11:00 – 12:45 Panel 1: Fear-mongering and the politics of diversity in Hungary: Challenges and a possible solution

Moderator: Ágnes Hárs, Senior Research Associate, TÁRKI

Prem Kumar Rajaram (CEU, Sociology and Social Anthropology department): Immobilizing mobility: border ethnography, illiberal democracy and the politics of the "refugee crisis" in Hungary (based on a paper co-written with Daniel Monterescu and Annastiina Kallius)

Andres Moles, (CEU, Political Science department): Unjust Stereotypes for Just Minds

Endre Sík (ELTE, TÁRKI) & Bori Simonovits (TÁRKI): Scapegoating and xenophobia in contemporary Hungary

Kovácsné dr. Nagy Emese (Hejőkeresztúr, school director): Teaching in socially and academically heterogeneous classrooms

12:45 – 13:30 Coffee break + snacks

13:30 – 15:15 Panel 2: Civil society responses: Public attitude and practical challenges

Moderator: Éva Bognár (CEU, Center for Media, Data and Society at the School of Public Policy)

Bori Simonovits & Aniko Bernát (TÁRKI): The evolution of civilian support during the refugee crisis in Hungary

Sándor Ujhelyi & Zsuzsanna Zsohár (Migration Aid): Migration Aid from the beginnings to nowadays – small start, great results

Attila Szabó, (Legal advisor, Menedek): What are the deficiencies of the Hungarian refugee integration system and how NGOs can improve it?

Luca Laszlo (Let's Help the Refugees Together): Let's help the refugees - past, present and the future